Hi everyone!

Trapper misses going to Sonia's and seeing and playing with everyone. His routine has changed somewhat, but he has adjusted well. He rides the bus in the morning and is enrolled in the after school program.

Enough about that. What I really wanted to comment about is Sonia's "school" lessons that she does. We just had Kindergarten orientation Tuesday night. All of the activities and routines that he will be doing (i.e. centers, math, PE, music, art, social studies, science, reading, writing, etc) he already has a solid foundation in. All of the lessons and activities that Sonia does has well prepared him for his transition to Elementary school. They have a treasure box and many other similar activities.

Thanks again!
